

けいたい 携帯メール

けいたいでんわ おく え も じ かお
携帯電話でメールを送ります。絵文字や顔

も じ つか たの か
文字を使って、楽しいメールを書きましょう。

にほん けいたいでんわ え も じ かお
日本の携帯電話には、たくさんの絵文字や顔

も じ はい
文字が入っています。これで、いろいろな気持ち
をつたえます。

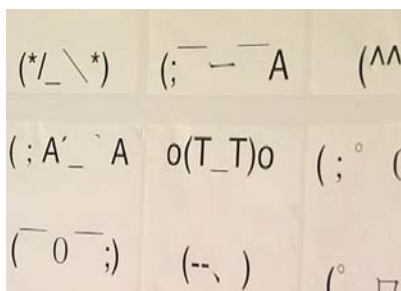

にこっとわらった<sup>かお</sup>顔です。「おはよう<sup>かお</sup>(顔)」のように

つか
使います。

ハートマークです。「また会<sup>あ</sup>いたいね(ハート)」の

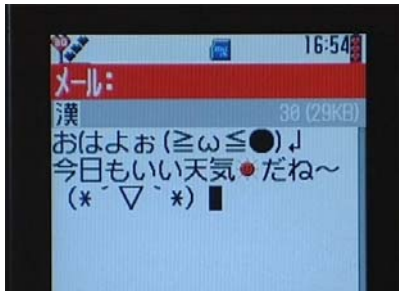

よう<sup>つか</sup>に使います。とてもよく使<sup>つか</sup>われます。

わかれのマークです。「彼<sup>かれ</sup>氏と別<sup>わか</sup>れちゃったー(別 れハート)」のように使います。

Cell Phone E-mail

Let's send e-mails by cell phone. Write fun e-mails using picture symbols and face symbols.

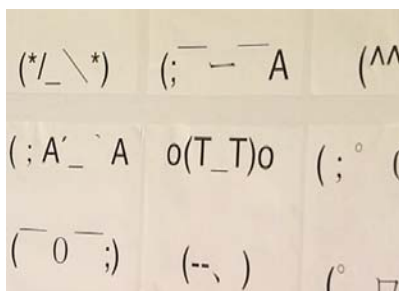

Japanese cell phones have a lot of pictograms and face symbols. With these symbols, you can express various feelings.

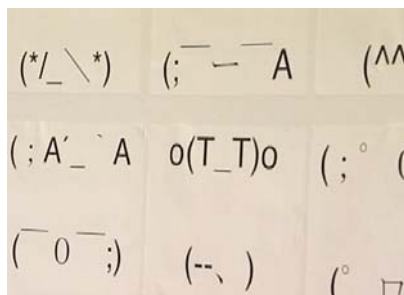

These are smiling faces. They are used when you want to say "Good morning (face)" or something like that.

This is a heart mark. You can use it for "I want to see you again (heart)" or something similar. This symbol is used very often.

This is a symbol of parting. It is used when writing something like "I have broken up with my boyfriend (broken heart)."

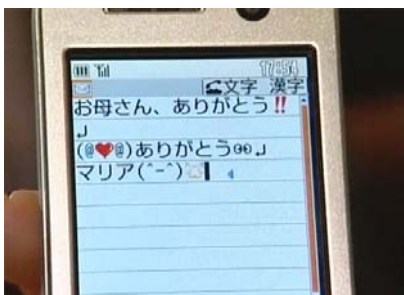

These are sad faces in tears, and can be used as "I'm shocked o(T_T)o."

Let's write e-mails using picture symbols and face symbols as you like.

Next is advanced use. By combining a face symbol and pictogram, you can create a new symbol. Pick a face symbol first, and put a pictogram in it.

Let's try to convey the feelings that are difficult to express in words with the help of those face symbols and pictograms.